

Opening Liz Stone NCCA Interim General Secretary

This is a safe place, a place where we come to learn from one another, to receive encouragement for the road ahead.

We will speak words and act in ways that build one another in love.

We will respect one another's differing theological views and life experiences. We will uphold and love one another as sisters and brothers in Jesus.

We will value one another's contributions and hold in confidence the sharing of stories as we journey towards safer churches together over these days.
